About the TCC Research Grant Program: Launched in 2009, the Paul and Gladys Richards Charitable Foundation Research Program for the study of British Transferware is dedicated to supporting research focused on British transferware produced between 1750 to 1900. To date, the program has funded twenty projects. Past recipients and their projects are published on the club's web site: www.transferwarecollectorsclub.org.

The TCC research grant program is named in honor of Paul and Gladys Richards who were avid transferware collectors, founding members and long-time supporters of the Transferware Collectors Club. The Richards Charitable Foundation, established in their memory in 1995, contributes $10,000 each year to support this research program.

All grant applications must be received by May 4 of the year the request is made.

Awards are announced in early August and funding for selected proposals is distributed by the end of August of the same year.
